“At Volkswagen Group of America, we believe involved, inspired and energized employees are the hands, heart and soul of our company. We also believe that one of the best ways to bring our employees across all brands of the company together is to collaborate in new ways, like volunteering at Miriam’s Kitchen. This is the perfect way to align our team values, excite new employees, and build communication skills. Our senior executives, junior associates, and engineering experts alike love standing side-by-side cracking dozens of eggs, flipping pancakes, sautéing veggies, and peeling potatoes together. Just as in the office, we are focused on a shared goal, but at Miriam’s Kitchen, we see and feel our immediate impact.”
